But I fear this half-hour epic isn't big enough for the Murray family justice. It would take a super-colossal wide-screen Hollywood effort to interpret their adventures and highly-individualized personalities.

The Breathing Spell

M was wrong to abstain from voting one way or the other on a recent want-of-confidence motion in Parliament but right in saying that the government needed "a reasonable time" to get its massive program under way. When Parliament overwhelmingly voted confidence in the government that period of study and consolidation apparently was

If the events of the last troubled formight have taught us anything it is that great decisions cannot be taken safely in haste, merely to make good some imaginary time-table. It is difficult, indeed, to take them at all when Parliament is sitting and cabinet ministers must attend its sessions while somehow finding time to administer great departments of state. The best time for such decisions is when Parliament has gone home and the cabinet has leisure to study serious problems free of daily diversions.

It is to be hoped, therefore, that having disposed of essential busi-ness, Parliament will adjourn soon after midsummer and return in the autumn to consider more funda-mental policies.

A contributory old-age pension system, for example, cannot possib-ly be approved without months of inquiry. The actuarial details are inquiry. The actuarial details are so complex, the potential costs so great, the effects on business and individuals so important that it will be best to make haste slowly.

The nation is more interested in the soundness of the scheme than its timing. There is no reason why it must be launched at the first of next year, and every reason to post-pone it beyond that date if, by then, it is not as foolproof as the experts can make it.

In the closely-related field of taxation the danger of haste is even more apparent, after the submission and the overnight withdrawal of a tax on Canadian equities sold to foreigners.

The government has gone a long way already in changing the tax and foreigners and no one can fore-see the precise result of these changes. How will the revised withholding tax affect imports of for-eign capital necessary for the ex-ploitation of Canadian resources in many areas? How will the new sales tax on building supplies affect construction within Canada? And how far does the government intend to go with Mr. Gordon's promise of far-reaching economies along the lines of the Glassco Report?

These questions cannot be answered for many months yet. Surely it is the part of wisdom to observe the consequence of the tax policies now applied before new ones are attempted. It is certain anyway that we have only begun a basic revision of the entire tax system, as Mr. Gordon said in his budget speech. In the first place, the government regards its present proposals as pre-liminary and experimental. In the second, a royal commission is studying the incidence of taxation as it has developed, with little planning, since early in the Second World War. The commission's report will not be filed for another year at earliest, probably not then.

While the government cannot postpone vital policies until the commission submits its recommenda-tions, the evidence now being taken before it should be given full weight in the making of all policy.

Besides, the present division of tax fields between the federal, provincial and municipal governments is bound to be altered before long, though Mr. Gordon has rightly warned the provinces that they can-not raid the national treasury if the federal government is to collect the revenues absolutely essential to its politics, of which the outcome will be huge responsibilities.

All these factors considered. most of the public will agree that the government has made a rapid start in its program, not without one serious blunder, and that it should fully use what Mr. Douglas calls "a reasonable time" to plan its next steps with care.

byelection on July 10 has called for a complete investigation of the municipalitiy's fire protection be-cause, he says, Esquimalt has the highest fire insurance rates in Greater Victoria.

This should raise eyebrows not only in Esquimalt but in the com-munity as a whole. An important part of Greater Victoria has a force which Mr. Archer says cannot be truly classed as a police department, since it does double duty. A council candidate questions the efficiency of the corps as fire-fighters on the basis of comparably high insurance

This may not constitute grounds for divorce, but it certainly indicates that some investigations should be

So Long As It's Fun

CANADIANS ARE BEING TOLD that unless highly competent successors can be found for Toronto stars Bruce Kidd and Bill Crothers —and quickly—the glamor of cur-rent track and field performances will fade nationally and the sport will return to the doldrums.

They are also informed by a noted central European track coach now practising on this continent, that Canadian athletes don't work hard enough at their games—that to get to the top "an athlete must be prepared to live only for his sport."

The coach says that Kidd and Crothers — who admittedly are among the best in the world at their distances today—are taking their training too easily.

All of this may be true. Some-how or other, however, the reply of Bill Crothers to the comment seems Stumping West Germany for Popularity?

DRESIDENT KENNEDY'S trip to West has been a misreading of the nature of Germany will be followed in a few days by President de Gaulle's trip. Whatever the official explanation, the fact is that the two heads of state have now involved themselves in a popularity contest. It is an absurd predicament for the western world to be in, both Presidents trying to carry West Germany as though they were candidates in an election campaign.

The notion that the character of the Western Alliance and its leadership can be determined by campaigning is a false one. The contest with Gaullist France is not shaped by the astute use of the pieces that each side possesses.

The whole conflict, we must remember, began with a press conference which announced an action. The press conference was not an argument. It brought forth the news that the British entry into the Common Market would be vetoed by France, France had the power to apply the yeto.

The whole subsequent Gaullist move-ment against the NATO military structure and against an Atlantic low-tariff associa-tion has been a series of actions—or withdrawals, abstentions and vetoes,

Cheering Crowds

Since Gaullism is not generally popular in Western Europe, it was tempting to assume that the exasperating disruption of the western system could be stopped by rousing the Europeans to stop it. That the issue. Gaullism cannot be thrown back in Europe by electioneering, and it will soon be evident that the cheering crowds in Germany do not mean that Britain will be admitted any sooner to the Common Market or that the grand design is any nearer realization than it was.

But seeing the conflict as an election problem has led directly to the embar-rassing exchange on the subject of American trustworthiness between the President of the United States and General de Gaulle's minister of information.

Wide Open

The President of the United States should not put himself in the position of beseeching the Europeans to trust him. Moreover, in the effort to make the Gertrust him, the President laid himself wide open to the Gaullist retort, which was that the French trusted Kennedy, but how could he speak for the "successor of the successor of the successor" of Ken-

So grave a matter as the nature of a pledge of life and death should not be declaimed to an excited crowd. When President Kennedy told the Germans that the American government would risk its cities to defend German cities, the occasion did not lend itself to a full explanation of the situation.

The situation is that the United States will risk nuclear war to stop an unpro-voked aggression against West Germany or West Berlin. But this does not mean that the United States has pledged itself to nuclear war in order to give total support to Bonn's policies in Berlin, in East Germany or beyond the present Polish

The stakes are too high to be played about with in electioneering speeches.

How should the response to Gaullism be made? Since electioneering is a dangerous method of communication, since the French president does not want to talk directly with the American President to talk through his ambassador, there remains the classic instrument of diplo which is to write notes, some private, some public. The advantages of writing notes are many—chiefly they can be composed deliberately; they are addressed not to the gallery, but to the head of the government, and they are immune to the intoxi-cating effect of cheering crowds.

Deep Conflict

Not that note writing is likely to resolve the conflict between the two govern-ments. It is a deep conflict hard to resolve, but not necessarily tragic. Note writing might, however, open up channels of communication and perhaps avert an intensification of the popularity For that contest is already on the verge of competitive demagoguery.

The most vitally necessary subject of nsultation between Paris and Washington is that of relations with the Soviet Union. It is not the French nuclear deterrent, which is still far in the future and is of no prime importance to this country. It is not the proposed multilateral force, which is on the shelf. Western relations with the Soviet Union are approaching a point where there might be an opportunity to reach a provisional accommodation.

It is no time for the French and the American governments not to be on speaking terms.

WASHINGTON:

Second Revolution

By JOSEPH ALSOP

ON JULY 4, 1776, when a number of the boldest leaders signed the Dec-laration of Independence, the American Revolution began in deadly earnest. Even then, a wiser govern-ment in London might perhaps have diluted or deferred the American Revolution, by bold generosity and shrewd, swift concession, But George III, Lord North and Lord George Germain were a trio dedicated to disaster. With Alsop Washington and Jefferson and Adams

their names should also be inscrib-upon the list of founding fathers. On July 4, 1963, it is needful to do something beyond commemorating the other, more glorious Fourth of July with festive firecrackers. It is needful to face the fact that for good or ill, something like a second revolution has begun here in America.

The symbolic figure, who warns us where we now stand, is the dead Medgar Evers. When Evers took the leadership of the NAACP in Mississippi, he cannot have acted from ambition, or in the hope of gain. He must have known the risks he ran. He ran those risks to free his people; and in the end he was brutally and shamefully assassinated.

The assassination of Medgar Evers does not compel us to be piously senti-mental. Just the opposite is what is wanted. The murder of Evers calls for indignation, of course; but above all, it calls for realism.

Let the nine Americans out of ten who are white, be realists as well. Then they must see at once that the Negro movement could not possibly produce such a man as Evers, to do the sort of thing that Evers did, without a strong tinge of revolutionary fervor. The emotinge that induces self-sacrifice is the heart of the matter.

Self-Pity

In some other Negro leaders, slike James Baldwin for example, it may be reasonable to suspect that the element of self-pity is stronger than the element of self-sacrifice. But that does not alter the equation. Any student of the risings of the subject peoples against the co-lonial empires, is well aware that the self-pitying revolutionaries are generally more numerous than self-se

On this July 4th, these risings of subject peoples against colonial empires are the cases to consider. They are the cases to consider, moreover, not because our own American Revolution was the first and the most fruitful rising, but because they tell us so much that we need to know about the second revolution that has imperceptibly begun in our midst.

For the nine Americans out of ten who are white, the object of this new who are white, the object of this new revolution is the key point to weigh. Its object, one must always remember, is not to subvert or destroy or replace the American system. The Negroes' object, rather is only to gain the full American citizenship that the Constitution guarantees to them.

antees to them. For the one American in every ten who is a Negro, the extreme peculiarity of the Negro revolution is the key point to weigh. This movement, for all its kinship to one of the anti-colonial risings, is also set apart by a profound dif-ference. The Negro claims may be just, but those who make the claims are still a minority, and the susceptibilities and even the prejudices of the majority must therefore be considered at all times.

Hence realism urgently requires the Negro leaders and their followers to avoid excess. That does not mean avoiding the insistent presentation of just claims. But it does mean refraining from pressing these claims by violence, or in other ways that can profoundly alienate the white majority. There is far more danger of this than many good people as yet imagine.

Civil Rights

By the same token, however, realism also urgently requires the American white majority not to blink at, or try on't forget to make proper provision for our cat or dog if you are going away.

Most neighbors do not want to be sponsible for a pet, so unless someone going to stay in the house to look after the animal should be be a someone to make property rights should be a someone on the sample should be be a someone on the sample should be be a someone on the sample should be be a someone or some one of the property rights should be a someone or some one of the property rights should be a someone or some or property rights ahead of civil rights, or for wishful suggestions that everything would be all right if it were not for a handful of "agitators."

Before they faced the truth, the British in India also talked about "agita-tors." As for the truth that the British in India finally had to face, it was bleakly simple. The truth was that they had only two practical choices open to

One choice was to concede to the Indian people what they were clamoring for, without weak half-measures or selfdeluding compromises. And the other choice was to shoot enough Indians to make a new silence in the land, as Nikita S. Khrushchev later did in Hungary.

The British did not make Khrushchev's choice, essentially because they did not want to live in the kind of coundid not want to live in the kind of country that would do that kind of thing, what the Negro people in America are clamoring for is very different from what the Indians demanded of the British. But the practical choices open to the white American majority will surely be found, in the end, to be as limited as the British choices were, and for much the FROBISHER BAY, N.W.T .- They had a uingding of a party here Saturday night, to any farewell to the men of SAC and the sec-ond third of this town's reason for existence. The first third, the use of Frobisher Bay as an airliner refuelling stop, disappeared with the introduction of DCS's and Boeing

Now CPA, Panam and SAC whistle by without stopping, flying Edmonton to Amsterdam or London to Lo_{S} Angeles on what you might call one tankful of gas.

Wednesday the last two KC97 tanker planes of 4085 Air Base Squadron, USAF Strategic Air Command, lifted off the 9.000foot Frobisher runway and droned out of wight over the eroded, snow spotted hills to wards their home base near Detroit, never SAC is leaving after a mere 21/2 years' operation here from a superb, self-contained $22 millions buildings complex. The KC97's aupported B47 bombers, now being phased but. Big, fast KC135 jet tankers are replac-ing KC97's to support the bigger and faster B52 jet bombers. The Americans just don't need Frobisher any more.

The question is, who does? And that brought Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing here last weekend.

"Slowly but surely Frobisher is becoming ghost town," says Raoul St. Julien, manager of CBC station CFFB. About 300 people have left in the last two months, not counting the Americans. The airport staff is being cut from 150 to 40, the catering people are leaving, Imperial Oil is cutting from 15 to five, and the fire department is being cut from 45 men to one.

Yet the federal government is well into a program, started last year, to spend an estimated $10 millions on new construction. The apidery steel frameworks of a new hospital

A filtration plant settling tank is being blasted into the rock. Part of a hill has been blown off for a residential high and vocational school for Eskimos. Heavily sub-sidized Eskimo housing is being built.

All this while the most magnificent modern building north of Edmonton, four stories high and hundreds of feet long, is being abandoned by SAC two miles away. With eating, sleeping, working and recreational facilities for more than 300 men, it has everything from offices to apartments, bars to bowling Frobisher Bay, population last year 1,540, population next year probably 1,000, is another debit in John Diefenbaker's northern vision. All that's left is the native population, about 700, with its hunting, fishing and native handicrafts; the Hudson Bay Co. post; a handful of economically shaky local enterprises, and federal administrative machinery for the Eastern Arctic.

Laing says he is not going to use tax money to maintain an Arctic white elephant, "Our money," he told the 14-member Chamber of Commerce here, "is going to be used to try to catapult the Eskimos into this generation. He's likely to junk most of the $10 millions building program, move all administra-tion into the SAC buildings, and end such wasteful duplication of services as three government garages.

"What we need here," he told the chamber, "is resource-based industry like a commercial fishery or a big gold mine." He has in mind a char cannery, and financial incentives to encourage prospecting.

One asset for tourism: the salubrious summer climate. When it was 103 in Ottawa it was 35 in "The Frobe."

The Big Smoke Chain

WASHINGTON (UPI)-If my own circle of acquaintances is a reliable indicator, a lot of people these days are trying to give up

I have heard so much about this recently that it started me to thinking what might happen if all the people who now smoke were suddenly to stop. Here are some of possibilities that crossed 1. All of the farmers who now grow tobacco-would convert their acreage to wheat, corn and cotton. This would greatly aggravate the surplus problem and cause the secretary of agriculture to shoot

Seeking a scientific solution, the government would underwrite a vast research program to find other uses for wheat, corn and

After 10 years and 10 billion dollars, the laboratories would announce a chemical discovery through which wheat, corn and cotton could be used to make cigarettes.

2. A number of actors who have been appearing in cigarette commercials on televi-sion would be stuck with worthless tattoos.

3. The ceramics industry, whose main source of income is the production of ashtrays, would have to go back to kewpie dolls and mustache cups.

4. Composers who make their living turning out jingles for cigarette commercials would have to go back to writing sympho-

5. Tobacco auctioneers would have to find jobs as hearing aid salesmen.

6. The economy of Japan, which is pegged to the manufacture of cheap cigarette lighters, would collapse overnight.
7. The paper match industry would go into bankruptcy, taking with it the art schools that advertise correspondence courses on the covers.

8. Tailors, who get a lot of business because of cigarette holes in suits and dresses, would suffer economically. 9. Ditto woodwork shops that repair burned tabletops. 10. Thousands of persons employed in the production of "No smoking" signs would be thrown out of work.

11. The makers of air fresheners would lose many of their customers, particularly the wives of former cigar smokers 12. There would be a slump in the sale of dentifrices, purported to remove tobacco stains from teeth. 13, Companies making cigarette lighter fluid would have to switch to the production of charcoal lighter fluid,

14. The demand for pipe cleaners would restricted to women who use them for hair curlers.

15. Smoky the Bear would have to find someone else to blame for forest fires.

Spy Defence Clampdown In Canada

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — Some infor-nants say, they believe there has been a general tightening of security in Canada as a result of the Profumo scandal and Philby case in Britain and the arrest in the last two weeks of Soviet spies in Sweden and the United States.

The RCMP, as is its custom declined to confirm or deny the eport.

One source said there appears to have been more questioning of persons in sensitive govern-ment positions who might have ome into even casual or offi-ial contact with members of the embassies of communist

Another said he noted some falling-off in official Canadian attendance at functions at Russian and Soviet bloc embassies. The defence department is reriewing at least some of the security procedures as laid down by government directive in 1955. Informants said it appears a nore thorough scanning of security dossiers of persons oc-cupying sensitive positions is in progress.

Security risks include persons judged "vulnerable" to foreign agents whether because of homsexual tendencies, big debts or ancient misdeeds or simply be-cause they might take a drink too many at cocktail parties. Canadian governments have cen deeply concerned about security since Igor Gouzenko, Russian embassy clerk, fingered Soviet spy network in Canada n 1945.

One reason is the effect security leaks have on relations with allies. A country is unlikely to get all the information it wish from a friendly cuntry-in Canada's case, from he United States-if its secur ty is leaky.

Canada has been involved in number of spy cases since 1945, though on nothing like the scale of that year.

In at least two cases Soviet spies in Britain were carrying Canadian passports when cap-

Smelting announced price increases of half a cent each for creases of half a cent each for clead and zinc, following a move earlier in the week by U.S. processors.

Aluminum, despite the appreciable increases in world productive capacity, continues said the prospectus accompanying the issue would show aluminum Ltd. had a profit of $9.4 million for the first four months of the year. This compares with $10.9 million for the Saskatoon branch as assistant manager, when $2.7 million in non-recurring issues was included.

There had been some speculation that the enormous bath amounts of both metals in the amounts of both metals in the land.

The new Canadian prices are to surprise the trade with its vigorous growth.

In the U.S. this year, the industry expects aluminum consumption to hit a record 2.9 for the same period last year when $2.7 million in non-recurring issues was included.

Mr. Davis added that the surprise in British Guiana had cost the company about $2 million to the

They said it appeared they were after ground fish in 50 fathoms of water, and guessed that a mother ship must have been close at hand to take the catch back to the Soviet Fishermen have for some time heard a foreign language on their commercial radio bands and suspected it to Russian.

The fishing situation in the Clayoquot area last week was reported poor. Ucluelet and Tofino boats were going out and returning light. The owners, who depend on fishing for a living, were disappointed.

Best catch noted here up to the weekend was valued at only $300.

Commercial fishing has been a chief source of income in this area: for many years.

Out on the track 17 stock cars, garishly seinted and carrying such exotic names as "Big Ben's Dogs 'n' Suds" and "Reliable Transfer" heaved and panted, waiting for Phil Henry to send them stuttering away in the main event.

got the green flag and screamed around the bend looking like an accident waiting for a place to happen. Brian Willson, heavy-footed and astute, avoided several likely catastrophies and i crelled home in front.

Now it was time for the modified main event. Al Smith was in line early, waiting in the seething beast owner Geoff Vantreight bought last year from Foster. Not everybody else was so punctual, causing starter Henry to develop a pionship. Last year, Miss Moti is unseeded, mild case of apoplexy.

"C'mon, you prima donnas," Henry hollered. "We don't want to be here all night."

They all came out, did their pace lap, and splattered the night air. Round and round they sizzled, seven modifieds and four stock cars. The latter had a one-lap advantage. Within three laps it boiled down to a two-driver race. Foster Smith in pursuit. A lone Vancouver entry, em blazoned with the name "Mac the Knife," followed docilely, like Mary's little lamb.

On the eighth lap, a Mr. Ray Pottinger stalled on the first turn which is a quick way to die if not a pleasant one. The red flag went up.

Few Can Do The Twist at 100 MPH

Pottinger was pushed into the infield and the chase It was harum-scarum stuff, exnilarating as an Alfred Hitchcock spookie.

Foster, still unable to "get a bite" (dig in without aliding), and travelling at three-quarter speed, held the lead. Smith, pushing his feet through the floorboards, slowly bridged the gap. "He doesn't have Billy's experience in top traffic," a man said, "but he knows how to push."

With less than five laps to go, Smith eased in front.
Coming out of the turn, he drifted. Foster let Smith commit himself, then at 100 mph swerved sharply inside. It was a classic manoeuvre, requiring split-second timing.
"Yowie!" said a pit man. "You don't see that often."
Smith kept pushing, struggling, At the 17th.

Smith kept pushing, struggling. At the 17th lap he led even, inched ahead and began to cut in front. Foster spanked his brakes. Smith's car did a lazy spin . . right off the edge of the track. Foster, nobody near now, merely ran out the race.

Al Smith, 29, had set a Speedway lap record of 17.59. He had won the trophy dash. But in the handicap, the money jockey was Foster. This year, at Salem, at Portland, at Western, he usually is.

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) - Colorado coach Eddie Crowder says amusing incidents sometimes occur on football recruiting trips.

Addressing the Boulder Junior Chamber of Commerce, Crowder told of asking one high school prospect about his grades.

The boy said he had had academic trouble but expressed belief he could handle college courses. "What's your IQ?" Crowder asked: "20-20," replied the high school youth.

Reg Foster is pecking away at a goal-a-game clip, and Billy Gray appears to be establishing himself as one of the more exciting performers in Shamrock history. . . .

On Ashbee, five goals.

All had their innings Wednesday as Victoria tripped Nanaimo 14-8.

That Inter-City Lacrosse League result out of Memorial Arena supplied Shamrocks with a big boost towards clinching the third and last playoff spot. The win shot Victoria nine points ahead of lagl-place Nanaimo.

Playing-coach Don Ashbee enjoyed his finest game of the season, but even five well-taken goals couldn't drop the others into a state of anonymity.

Lately, however, Gray also has shown a liking for offensive frolics. Statistics show Gray picked up only six points in the first 10 games. In the last eight outings, Gray has come through with 12 points, seven of them goals.

Gray's goals were different. They were delightful productions of a bronzed, well-built young man who, quite suddenly, seems to have found denly, seems to have found ability and, at the same time, discovered the ecstasy of scoring.

The colleges have beckoned and Victoria's Gary Smith has accepted a golf scholarship. The 17-year-old, three-time winner of the City Junior will enroll at Seattle University

The full tuition scholarship guarantees Smith four years of schooling towards a degree in business administration.

GARY SMITH

In a sense, the scholar-ship offers (there were two) must be regarded as a be-lated prize for Gary's fine showing in the Times Island Open this year. He was runnerup to Bill Wakeham.

New Mexico University at Albuquerque also tossed Smith a bid.

A good student, Gary, who graduated from Belmont High last month, chose Seattle over New Mexico for two reasons

The first is that Seattle "closer to home." Also nsidered was the fact that Seattle includes "military service" in its courses Americans are subject to 18 months of compulsory service. Should Smith decide to remain and work in the U.S. after graduation, he would not be subject to the draft. The bids from below the border are tribute to the Victoria and District Committee's fine work in junior develop-

There's a good crop of junior boys around and it's no secret that Ricky Kent also is being considered as scholarship material. Ricky has another year to go before graduating from high school. There are others. And if any require extra incentive as to why they should work on their golf as well as their books, Gary Smith supplies it today.

HENLEY ON THAMES, England (CP)—A travel-weary crew from British Columbia's Shawnigan Lake Boys' School lost a close race to Tideway Scullers in a preliminary heat of the Henley Royal Regatta Wednesday night.

Shawnigan was in the lead at the quarter-mile mark, strokday night.

The eight - cared race was close all the way. The Canadians led for a time but finished 1% lengths behind Tideway.

The winning time against a headwind was 7.43 over the course of one mile, 550 yards. The Canadians. beginning a British and European tour, were eliminated from the regatta.

Some of the scullers also suffered muscle cramps. They arrived at Henley only four hours before the race after a total of 18 hours in the air on the trip from Varicouver to London by charter flight with a stop in Montreal.

The students from Shawnigan, a private school, have been rowing together for two years and are considerably youncer than are considerably younger than the Tideway crew.

MUSCLE CRAMPS

Ned Larsen, Shawnigan's headmaster, said his boys—the oldest is 19—had done as well as could be expected in view of their trying trip. Coach Joseph Grey echoed his words.

HAVE YOU HEARD WHAT THE ORDERS ARE FOR TOMORROW? -- Private Marcel Girard of Quebec, a member of the 2nd Battalion Royal 22e Regiment, gets an earful of military gossip from a month-old friend on the bank of a Camp Gagetown, N.B., river. The young deer, believed to have been abandoned, prefers the company-and the eating habits-of humans to life in the New Brunswick woods. The soldiers will pamper the fawn to a good start in life before turning it over to wildlife authorities. (CP Wirephoto.)

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who saks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globa.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of World Book Encyelopedia to J. L. Wallace, age 11, of Opp, Ala., for his question; What exactly is an atom?

The atom is an orderly these atoms separate and go

The particles of matter occupy but a small fraction of the thing atom, and most of an atom is empty space.

We live in a world where things are always changing. It has been atoms separate and go their separate ways.

It took scientists a long time to track down the atom but now we know. All the solid, liquid and gaseous forms of matter occupy but a small fraction of the tiny atom, and measure an inch—and all of matter occupy but a small fraction of the tiny atom, and measure an inch—and all of matter occupy but a small fraction of the tiny atom, and the mater atoms of the element iron. The 22 members of the Liberal party expelled for helping independent candidate Foster Isherwood are free to seek reinstatement, Victoria Liberal Aesociation president Dr. R. M. Shepherd said Wednesday.

But their reinstatement has to be approved by a resolution from a general meeting of association members.

Dr. Shepherd said it was "a matter of embarrassment" that some of the 22 had appeared at a Liberal meeting Tuesday night.

The 22 were thrown out because they had endersed the nomination of Mr. Isherwood, one-time Victoria Liberal candidate, when the party switched its allegiance to David Groos, who had previously been a candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich.

Arthur Mayse

At Jerry Gosley's Monday night opening, I took an incautious backward step which landed solidly on what felt like somebody's foot. That indeed it was, as I discovered when I turned with apologies ready. Attached to the foot was Miss Victoria, 1963 model, wearing white chiffon, dark mink, and under her tiara a dazzling if slightly agonized smile.

A good trouper, Miss Victoria gave her pink rosebud still crisp from the home refrigerator a final preening, then with hardly a trace of a limp, stepped for-ward to launch Mr. Gosley's mely retooled Smile

Two leading members of the Liberal Party today tore up their cards and joined Social Credit.

Former Victoria Liberal president Geoffrey Ellis and Sidney Smith, another former executive, paid $2.50 apiece for four-year Social Credit

They did it in the office of Victoria Social Credit MLA Waldo Skillings.

Welcoming them to the fold were Works Minister W. N. Chant and Premier Bennett's executive assistant, W. C. Budd. The two rebels said they were disgusted with Liberal antics over the past year and charged that a group of lawyers was seeking control through undemocratic actions.

Their open revolt comes just as the Liberals are making a big pitch to win the Columbia byelection from Social Credit on July 15.

Dear Mrs. A.M.R.:

Terry cloth is very popular today for casual clothes because of its durability and easy care.
If your garment is to be washed in hot water, I would advise you to wet your fabric in very hot water, spin it dry and throw it in the dryer before you begin construction. Terry cloth usually shrinks quite a bit the first time it is washed and dried.

Flat felled seems are best be-

Flat felled seams are best be-cause there will be no raw edges to ravel. Also, the extra top stitching will hold the seams flat. If the terry cloth is heavy, top stitch all the faced edges about 16 inch from the edges. This will keep all the outer edges flat and add to the attrac ottawa (CP)—The government is pigeonholing for the present its bill to establish a 4000,000,000 municipal loan and development fund, reliable informants said Wednesday.

Said Wednesday.

The reason given for the delay is an objection raised by Pinance Minister Gordon with a fanlare of urgency. He said it is a key point in the government's program to encourage higher employment leviles in the given measure as an invasion of provincial legislative responsibility.

Mr. Lesage asked the federal government not to press the measure until the conflict of jurisdiction has been overcome.

In the Common s, acting Prime Minister Chevrier said he is not aware of any promise.

Prime Minister Chevrier said he is not aware of any promise given Mr. Lessge not to proceed with the measure immediately for the dear alloans. He said there should be no delay once the fund is approved by Parliament. It is to use $400,000,000 to buy municipal abentures, and will reduce figroup lurking in the hilliops of nancing costs for the local authorities by forgoing some payments of Porthern Yemen fired at Maj. CHARGES FUTILITY

Mr. Churchill said the comnittee has become an "exercise in futility." It had been trumpeted by the Liberals as a policy - discussion group which would have an influence on government defence policy.

But now it turned out, Mr. Churchill said, that the government was about to make deci-sions in which the committee would have no part. One of these decisions appeared to be

Mr. Churchill said Mr. Hell-yer had stated he didn't know nat proportion of American Voodoo interceptors were armed with nuclear weapons but then had stated that the RCAF's 66 Voodoos, if retained by the U.S., would have been nuclear-armed.

It was inaccurate to say, as Mr. Hellyer had done, that the RCAF Voodoos detracted from cause they were armed only with conventional weapons. Mr. Hellyer replied the only inaccuracy was in Mr. Churchill's reading of his testimony. All U.S. Voodoos were equipped to carry either the pissile or Genie nuclear rocket.

At Jerry Gosley's Monday night opening, I took an incautious backward step which landed solidly on what felt like somebody's foot. That indeed it was, as I discovered when I turned with apologies ready. Attached to the foot was Miss Victoria, 1963 model, wearing white chiffon, dark mink, and under her y

A good trouper, Miss Victoria gave her pink rosebud bouquet—still crisp from the home refrigerator—a final preening, then with hardly a trace of a limp, stepped for-ward to launch Mr. Gosley's handsomely retooled Smile

This she accomplished with charm, assurance and regal grace.

The pretty 18-year-old who with her mother and father in a Saanich mburb hasn't abandoned the identity which was her be-fore fortune nodded.

She models occasionally, but doesn't hunger for a ca-reer in the glamor trade. At the moment, Merie Webb's only worry seems to be that her state duties may clash with her Victoria Girls' Drill

Otherwise, she's enjoying her queen-year immensely.

She sparkles when she talks of her regalia, al-though she retains mixed memories of her crown-the blg one—which only make-shift padding kept from settling over her ears.

She has started keeping a scrapbook, as what girl girl wouldn't.

been generous in giving her such time off as her role requires. Most of those few hours away, she has succeeded in making up. Her work hasn't suffered.

What startled her most was to find herself recognized by strangers on the street, although she's now getting used to this aspect of local fame.

Generally, it's other young ones who identify her, particularly girls in their earlier teens. They hail her by name. Sometimes they ask questions which she does her best to an-

MOSCOW (AP)-Premier Khrushchev sent President nnedy and the American people "warm congratulations and wishes of peace and prosperity" today in an Independence Day message.

With his thoughts perhaps on Communist China's opposition to his peaceful coexistence policy, Khrushchev told the president:

"In our age, the age of harnessing nuclear energy and penetrating the depths of the universe, the maintenance of peace has indeed become a vital need for all mankind.

We are convinced that if the governments of our countries, at one with the governments of other states which have displayed a realistic approach, firmly take to the road of elimination of hotbeds of international tension and of expansion of businesslike co-operation, the peoples everywhere will acclaim this as a great contribution to the strengthening of universal peace."
